

	Object:	Alto Flute (copy)
	Museum:	Zenetörténeti Múzeum Táncsics Mihály u. 7. 1014 Budapest (36-1) 214-6770 / 253 zti.muzeum@abtk.hu
	Collection:	Hangszergyűjtemény
	Inventory number:	H 71.13.

Description

Alot Flute f'. An argument can be made that the instruments Bach identified as flauti d'echo were echo flutes, an example of which survives in Leipzig to this day. It consisted of two recorders in f' connected together by leather flanges: one instrument was voiced to play softly, the other loudly.

Basic data

Material/Technique:	wood
Measurements:	Height: 48 cm; Widht 3 cm;

Events

Created	When	1974
	Who	Bige József
	Where	Budapest

Keywords

- aerophone
- magrés furulya - duct flute

Literature

- Bali János (2007): A furulya. Budapest