

	Object: Alto Flute (copy) Museum: Zenetörténeti Múzeum Táncsics Mihály u. 7. 1014 Budapest (36-1) 214-6770 / 253 zti.muzeum@abtk.hu Collection: Hangszergyűjtemény Inventory number: H 71.13.
--	---

Description

Alot Flute f'. An argument can be made that the instruments Bach identified as flauti d'echo were echo flutes, an example of which survives in Leipzig to this day. It consisted of two recorders in f' connected together by leather flanges: one instrument was voiced to play softly, the other loudly.

Basic data

Material/Technique: wood
Measurements: Height: 48 cm; Widht 3 cm;

Events

Created When 1974
 Who Bige József
 Where Budapest

Keywords

- aerophone
- magrés furulya - duct flute

Literature

- Bali János (2007): A furulya. Budapest